

The Year Is New But the Problem is Old

The calendar reads "January 1, 52," but there is no change in the vorld's big headache.

Russia's Joe Stalin illustrates the eacherous times in which we live y sending a New Year's greeting to the people of Japan offering his "deep sympathy" because of their foreign occupation." And yet he supporting a war in Korea which primarily directed against Japan.

The strategic position of Korea nakes it either an outpost for the lefense of the Jap islands or a dagger pointed at their heart. That was why the old Japanese empire when menaced by Russia, invaded and occupied Korea nearly 50 years ago. And it is a major reasor rea today—if we let the peninsula fall into uñfriendly hands we may run the risk of losing everything that we fought for in the Western Candor compels one to admit that a liberator who swaggers into a foreign land wearing a sword and a pistol is an unhappy target for suspicion and ridicule. I don't have much patience with talk about our saving either Japan or Korea for democracy. We have a much more honorable reason for being in both lands-saving our own skins, and honoring the memory of several hundred thousand young Americans who died for us in World War II.

I can't imagine that the Japan ese would "prefer" being occupied by us than by the Russians: about the only thing the Japs would "prefer" would be to have their country all to themselves again But by comparison with Russia's lying words our American forth rightness ought eventually to win us solid support in the Far East. It isn't our reputation to talk one way and act another.

Nor is America, in this new year arming herself to force "democracy" on an unwilling world. We are making ships and guns and planes, and training fighting men simply because we need them for the physical protection of our own country and her sea and air ap-

We need no more proof than a single item in the overnight news—the discovery in the Korean fighting that Russia is able to spare 750 jet fighters on that distant front . . . absolute proof that Russia is far ahead of us in the air, And so we dedicate 1952 presumably to peace but certainly to re armament-for ourselves.

THE NEW YEAR

By Elsie Karlin

Tonight Mayor Lyle Brown and the old city council will bow out and the new mayor, John L. Wilson, Jr., will take over. New mem-bers of the council to be sworn in are C. W. Tarpley, H. C. Murphy, Jesse Brown and Howard Byers,

Mayor Wilson today indicated that Chief of Police Clarence Baker will continue to head the department at least temporarily but he said he would reserve the right to make an appointment later,

Fire Chief Pap Willis will be re appointed by Mayor Wilson. It was also indicated that Clyde Zinn will continue to be superintendent of lope Water & Light Plant,

Fred Russell will take over as read of the city's street departnent, replacing R. N. Mouser who as street commissioner ander Mayor Brown's administra-

Stepmother's Role Difficult

Dear Miss Dix: I am a ght of 26, wanting to live again. Two years ago I married a man who bus three children. Then mother left him when he was in the army. have cared for the children as best I could but they continually compare me to their mother I'm tried to teach them numbers and help with their achealwork but they resist every afteront I make to improve them. This month they they came home with six F's i mong them. The R year old gui Striker at inc when I try to make her mind I love their father vermuch but these youngaters have me down and I'm afraid I can go on much longer. What can I do?

Answer: A girl who marries a withower and tries to mother has orphaned children has a difficult Job, but the stepmother of young aters whose own mother is still very much around is confinited time telemony performed in the shoulder corraces of yellow mans. A woman who has failed in her job as wife and mother is very re-Inclant to see another woman step into her shoes and try to make a success of the job. Even though she no longer wants her husband or the children, wife No. 1 will do everything in her power to discopt. the new household her successor tries to establish, Visits with her children are devoted almost entire. ly to undernining the authority of the stepmother. What change has a second wife against odds like

"I'll go, Mary!" Donald called. When he returned he was grin- before."

"That was Anne," he said, picking up his napkin. "We were going to the early movie, but she can't be ready. Her father got back so late from New York that they haven't ever started to eat yet. Do you know what he was doing? Guess!"

"Give up." "He was taken on a personally conducted tour backstage at Radio City Music Hall."

"How did he ever manage that?" "How did he! In the simplest way. He just asked an usher if it was ever permitted. The usher didn't know, but he sent him to someone who could tell him. He was passed along until—" He gestured. "Anne says he saw everything. She says that's always the way it happens. The way simply opens up for him." He attacked his pic. "Great guy," he finished. "Well, don't you see? There's a feeling against Don, because he is of him because he's drawing living with us."

"Are you proposing that we move back to New York and leave him here to fend for himself?"

"I've thought of it," she admitted. "If he ever gets his lovelife with Anne settled we might," "You want to go back to New York?"
